

Recall Election Ordered In Pahokee

Water and sewer rates controversy for the Pahokee Housing Authority (PHA) has led to recall elections being ordered for Pahokee Councilmen Lee Carroll Parker and K. W. Sanders.

A third councilman, Curtis Miners, announced he would resign if the recall is successful. The rate dispute, in addition to controversy on the elimination of three migrant camp facilities and the construction of a $5,559,106 low cost housing project, spurred almost 200 Pahokee voters to sign the recall petitions this week.

Leaders of the recall petition move to simplify the question by saying that Parker and Sanders are opposed to the PHA and its construction plans. Such opposition is denied by Parker, Sanders and Miners who say they are opposed to the granting of special water and sewer rates to the Housing Authority.

Parker said he was assured that his stand on the utility rates would not affect the progress of work on the proposed housing and should not be interpreted to mean he was opposed to the increase in low cost housing facilities.

Parker said he presented a motion to the Council in October of 1966 in opposition to the sites of the new facilities but had done nothing since that time to stop the project. The special reduction of rates to the housing authority, as requested, Parker said, is unfair to other utility users.

Parker indicated he would favor a plan that would give similar rates to all multiple unit users of the city utilities. City Clerk L. Marshall Lair said 176 registered voters and signatures were needed before Sept. 28 for a recall petition to be presented to the City Council. Monday, more than the required number had been obtained. The petition to recall Sanders was signed by 198. Parker's by 197. Over 20 who wished to sign the petition were not registered voters, Lair said, and had to be registered first.

Petitions for the two councilmen and Curtis Miners were filed in May but were not filed until about 30 persons signed in the allotted 31 days. If the city council does not order the recall election within 45 days the election will be ordered by the court. In his October motion opposing the construction location, Parker said:

Candidates, Pyfrom, Young, McCall and Farmer address a rally Sunday. Alton attended but had to leave early.

Eight Men in Sept. 12 Election

The last candidate filed last Wednesday of last week, the deadline, and Sunday candidates made their first joint appearance at a rally at the Lake Shore Recreation Center.

Jess D. "Willie" Lee III, qualified in the only uncontested race just before the deadline gave Mayor-Commissioner Bill J. Bailey opposition in Central Borough.

Lee, a pilot with the Glades District Service is the president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. In the North Borough race

Call and Farmer from North Borough and Alton and Pyfrom from West Borough. Bailey was unable to attend and there was a mix-up in notifying Lee, who said he will attend the meeting of the Glades Civic Improvement League, which sponsored the rally, this Sunday.

The League has endorsed Pyfrom and is acting as a support committee for him. Alton said he recognized this support and did not expect to change vote by his appearance "promised, if elected, to serve as a representative of all of the West Borough which is predominantly Negro.

There are about 1,000 Belle Glade voters registered for county, state and national elections who are not registered in the city, Mrs. Jones said.

Before last year's election the books were purged of over 700 voters who lost their eligibility either through not casting their vote, or moving from the city. The purge this year only removed the names of the deceased.

Barbecue Set For Wed. Sept. 13 By BGAC

"The Belle Glade Athletic Council plans its year's activities with election of officers and begins a barbecue. Harry Davis, principal of first South Elementary School and former Belle Glade High School coach was elected president.

Dick Hodges was elected Vice President and a new coach at BGHS, Ronald Whitehead was named Secretary.

The barbecue will be served Wednesday, Sept. 13 from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at the Belle Glade High School cafeteria. Adult servings of one half a chicken and trimmings will be $1.50 and children's size quarter chicken dinner will be $1.

Dinners will be prepared to take out, if requested, but delivery service will be available.

The council also finalized plans for football game tickets. Individual game tickets were raised to $1.50 for adults, from $1.25. The student admission will remain 75c. Season tickets for the five home games for $6.25 will be sold through the first half of the season. Tickets for the five home games will save $2.50 a game and will eliminate waiting in line.

Council members will start contacting holders of last year's reserved seats. When all of these contacts have been made, available reserved seats tickets will be sold to the general public. Reserved seating for the 5 home game will be $10 and box seats are $11.

Glades Citizens Favor Road Improvement Plan Legislators Still Uncertain

The Florida Legislature is reported to not be in the mood to consider a road bond program providing for a one cent additional gasoline tax for repayment.

The legislators may be in the mood to consider a road bond program providing for a one cent additional gasoline tax for repayment. The legislators may be in the mood to consider a road bond program providing for a one cent additional gasoline tax for repayment.

Following five deaths on Glades road last week, readers returned a questionnaire about roads to the Herald.

Two hundred and fifty returns have been received. Two hundred and thirty-eight of these said, "Yes, I feel the Road needs of Florida are critical," in answer to the first question.

Of the total returns received, all except 17 persons indicated they are willing to pay extra for a road building program to improve conditions. Some favored a road bond program, others a two cents a gallon of gas tax for ten years for a pay as you go program.

Others saw the answer in a road bond program financed by an additional one cent a gasoline tax, instead of financing it through license tag sales, as was first proposed.

Gov. Claude Kirk has indicated to the legislature that this Road Bond with additional tax, which would be placed on the ballot in November, is acceptable to him. But, the democratic leaders of both the house and senate see little chance for legislative consideration of the program. However, Verle Pope, Senate president, said if considered, the program might pass the legislature with much of opposition, said if considered, the program might pass the legislature with much of opposition.

Glades residents indicated their preference for financing with a gas tax. In answer to the Road Questionnaire, "I am in favor of the Legislature passage of the Road Bond program bringing the voters in November," 194-Yes, 17-No.

"I am in favor of Road Bond financing by an additional one cent a gallon gasoline tax," 93-Yes, 64-No.

"I am in favor of a two cent a gallon gasoline tax, to end in 10 years financing a pay as you go program," 154-Yes, 49-No.

In answering the questionnaire, 29 persons said yes to all four questions, perhaps stating, "We don't care how you do it, build roads that are safe."

Other combinations of votes were:

For 1, 2 and 4, 76 ballots. For 1, 2 and 3, 53 ballots. For 1 and 4, 42 ballots. For only 1 and 2, 31 ballots.

Questionnaires received since Wednesday are still untabulated and civic clubs meeting this week are expected to more than double the Questionnaires received.

A local group of Alcoholics Anonymous is meeting in the Glades area weekly. For information on the A. A. recovery program in this area call 924-5768 or write P. O. Box 463, Belle Glade.

Craig and Vernie Boots stand by a new corn harvester while Stewart is atop the machine in the driver's seat.

Boots Harvesters In Wide Use

Boots and Sons has finished their eighth and ninth corn harvesters for the fresh market.

The harvesters, designed and constructed by Vernie A. Boots, are now in use from Florida to Minnesota.

The first model of this harvester has been used for two years by Fritz Stein locally. It has an experimental machine, Boots said, and it will be remodeled to incorporate later innovations.

Another harvester of the earlier type was used last year by Johnny Schlechter to harvest his entire spring crop.

The wide range of sales of the new harvester was the result of an article done by a trade magazine, "The Pack."

"After the article, people contacted us," said Stewart, one of the sons of the company. Craig, the other son, is working with his father until January when he will enter the Navy. Both boys are graduates of the University of Florida.

harvested his crop, 65,000 crates of corn with the machine. Richards went to a corn growers meeting and sold a harvester. Palmer placed his order and told Boots that he would have had to get out of the corn business unless he could harvest his crop mechanically. And so, by word of mouth, the harvesters have spread from Florida throughout the corn country of the north. The two latest machines are being shipped to Minnesota.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

In politics where immediate success is attained by saying what people can be made to believe, rather than what is demonstrably true, success is generally placed on the desirable rather than on the possible.—Raymond Moley.

INTRODUCING A NEW FEATURE—

LOCAL BUSINESS

In every state, in nearly every county, of the United States are small towns in which former business areas have become ghost towns.

The scene is a common one: store windows boarded over; former banks used for storage; dust gathering on empty benches on the sidewalks. Yet, in many of these towns there are more people than ever.

The movement of trade came about as a result of better highways, faster automobiles, and poor promotion by the local merchants. The movement has been largely from villages to county seats and other small cities, which had the benefit of newspaper publicity.

But what about the future? Will super-highways, airplanes, and still faster automobiles begin to sap the commercial life of the county seats and other er flourishing small centers of trade? Not necessarily so.

The local merchant holds many advantages over distant competitors. The local consumers will remain loyal IF he thinks he will get a fair price at home. He will remain loyal IF he knows he can find the variety he seeks at home. He will remain loyal IF he realizes how much he will save in transportation and service costs by trading at home. He will remain loyal IF the local merchant demonstrates that the local store is progressive and up-to-date.

In short, every IF concerning the future of the small city merchant depends upon his use of advertising to keep the local consumer interested and informed on the ever-changing goods and services constantly being offered to the consumer by distant competitors.

No Place For Drones

The peril of a drone society—society produced by productive, taxpaying citizens, is a peril the Congress and the people always should bear in mind.

Happily, U. S. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is both aware of the peril and outspoken in warning the public about it.

Opening the debate in the House August 17 on a proposed increase in social security benefits, Congressman Mills strongly defended his committee's plan to tighten regulations on federal financial assistance to programs for aiding parents with dependent children.

"The American people," he declared, "want us to be certain that money is spent under this legislation to promote the public well-being. It is in the public interest for welfare to become a way of life."

Many Americans may not realize that welfare is a way of life to one element in our population. Rep. Mills pointed out that "we are caring for the third consecutive generation" of reliefers. Obviously, this kind of dependence has to be stopped.

In an effort to curb such welfare careers, Congressman Mills' committee wants the states to meet certain requirements by creating work and training programs so that unemployed parents must submit to a test of their ability to hold down a job.

If the Congress does not start requiring welfare recipients to take available jobs, public resentment is bound to mushroom. As Rep. Mills expressed it, "Some day there is going to be a revolution or a riot if the taxpayers can ever get organized. If I heard a good argument against a tax increase it is that giveaway programs are peeling to the bone."

Congressman Mills' comments are refreshing and timely, especially in view of the outpouring of liberal demands for additional welfare programs for residents of urban "ghettos." The liberal rhetoric is interesting and revealing. It is full of insistence on government's obligation to create jobs for riotous slum-dwellers, but there is no mention of the so-called "disadvantaged" citizens duty to take a job when it is offered.

People who have followed development of the government anti-poverty programs are aware of the fact that these federal projects often are involved in training people with a powerful disinclination to work. If frequently happens that the recipient of government aid gets off one program only to ask to be placed on another program. For many years, a job is the last thing they want.

Actually, much of the talk about a job shortage is sheer nonsense. The classified advertising pages of American newspapers contain innumerable job descriptions. Yet many of those who are loitering on street corners in the mornings and evenings aren't interested in these employment opportunities. They are people U. S. Sen. Byrd of West Virginia recently described as being unwilling to "hit a lick at a snake."

Yet if Big Government is to give handouts to some citizens, these citizens should be required to take whatever employment is available. They shouldn't be allowed to wait around for the job that involves the bare minimum of effort.

In Western Europe, migrants from Greece, Spain, Portugal, Italy and other comparatively poor countries travel to the industrial cities of Germany and France to seek employment. They take what is available, which generally is hard, heavy work. They don't complain, however, or say that the host countries have a social obligation to put an economic cushion under them.

Unfortunately, this attitude does not prevail among the migrants to American cities. Sociologists, politically-minded preachers and liberal editors have spent more than a decade telling these migrants that Society owes them a living. It is not surprising, therefore, that the United States has a new class of idlers, who believe that idleness at public expense is a civil right.

Congress and the taxpaying public will have to work overtime and talk tough to get this notion out of the minds of the would-be drones.

Parents, Children Ready Building For Start Of Pahokey Day School

By Carol L. Hummel
If you had been sitting atop the Hoover Dam behind the old Pahokey Hospital last Saturday, you would have seen close to a hundred parents and young people going into the new home of the Day School in the Glades. With one mind and a spirit of enthusiasm, these families went to work, trimming trees, cutting grass, installing benches and playground equipment, washing windows and venetian blinds, and painting walls.

The parents returned Tuesday night to enjoy an outdoor barbecue given by Melvin Spooner and Harold Wilkinson, after which they met in the assembly room to discuss matters of interest. The evening concluded with a tour of the classrooms and the new home of the Day School with the same calendar schedule as the public schools, opening on Friday, September 1st. All classes begin at 8:25. Kindergarten will dismiss at 11:30; the first month first graders will leave at 2:00, and thereafter at 2:30; and the second through the ninth grades will dismiss at 3:00.

Staff members to date are: Mrs. Betty Ferguson, Secretary; Mrs. Kay Kirby, Kindergarten; Mrs. Barbara Ross, Kindergarten & Music; Mrs. Kay Fleming, Third, Fourth and Grades; Miss Caro Hummel, Fifth and Sixth Grades; Mrs. Betty Thiebaud, English and Social Studies; and Mrs. Sara Rienda, Spanish.

Mrs. Miriam Burgess, Belle Glade, formerly Dean of Girls at Belle Glade Junior High, is Headmistress and will teach Mathematics.

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where Congressman Robert Michel of Illinois was mighty upset about some of them meetings Agriculture Secretary Freeman was holding around the country. For instance, he says they held one in Kansas and they were wild applause for evering Secretary Freeman said and when somebody got up to complain about some items in the farm program they were booed down.

Congressman Michel does a little investigating and he reports that for this meeting in Kansas they had about 1,600 folks there and around 400 of them were Federal employees. Few there at a cost of $3,827 to the taxpayers. Furthermore, Congressman Michel found out most of the applause for the farm program was coming from those 400 and most of the booing among the complainers was also coming from the same 400.

I ain't never understood the farm program under the Republicans or the Democrats and I don't aim to get political over matters I don't understand. But it seems to me, Mister Editor, if the Secretary of Agriculture has to get the deck stacked for applause at these meetings with the farmers, they was some weak nuts in it.

This same piece I was reading in the papers said Congressman Michel was aiming to look into some other meeting Freeman was holding in the farm belt and see how many Federal farm employees was being flew or hauled to furnish the background music. Personal, I just try to live with whatever rabbits them farm magicians in Washington pull out of the hat—and some of them was queer bunnies.

Incidental, speaking of Washington, I see where a column writer named Ashley Cooper on a Charleston, S. C. paper has compiled a list of some of the label buttons they was now wearing in the nation's capital. I copied 'em down for you, Mister Editor, so's you'd have a better idea of how the thinking was going these days amongst the citizens at our seat of Government.

"I am a human being—Do not fold, spindle or mutilate." "I am anonymous, help me!" "Stamp out reality." "Fight poverty—give me $10." "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may be radioactive."

Jim Holcomb Returns From N.C. Conference

Jim Holcomb, Director of the Belle Glade Baptist Center, 1125 N. W. 12th St., has recently returned from attending the Conference on Baptist Centers, sponsored by the Department of Christian Social Ministries of the Home Mission Board, Southern Baptist Convention, in Ridgester, North Carolina.

The Conference dealt with a study on the nature of changes in family life and included discussions of methods and techniques of the ministries of Baptist Centers over the nation.

Representatives from all five Baptist Centers in Florida attended the Conference.

Discussion and evaluation of the program of the Baptist centers provided valuable information for the Center leaders. Holcomb said, and much helpful information and many insights were gained in preparation for the Fall and Winter Program.

Preparation for the program at the local Baptist Center is now underway and the week-day activities are planned to resume on Sept. 18, with clubs and groups for all ages. Recreation, music, Bible study and creative activities are to be stressed, Holcomb said.

A workshop for boys is now being furnished and will offer a wide range of arts and crafts, also the play area will be fenced, offering a safer recreational area, stated Holcomb.

Holcomb said volunteers are now being recruited from the First Baptist Church and they wish to involve more people in the community in their ministry and invite volunteers from any local church.

SERMONETTE

Give God A Chance

By Rev. Henry G. Galloway, Pastor, Community Methodist Church

Let's give God a chance in our Citizenship Responsibility. Jesus made it very clear that we should pay Caesar what is due Caesar and pay God what is due God (Matthew 22:21). As I see it, Christian living is directly related to the way we exercise our citizenship obligations.

We are living in the greatest nation in the world — the land of freedom, opportunity, great industry, great history, great future. But a lot of people are knocking this nation today. They burn draft cards, they riot, they take the law in their own hands. All of this while we are trying to send men to the moon! How can a nation conquer outer space until its citizens have conquered inner space?

God gave us this land, this great heritage. God was with the pilgrims in their search for religious freedom. God was with the pioneers who cut out to live out of the wilderness. Faith in God is the foundation of our complex legal system.

In order for all of this to continue, our nation needs strong and devoted citizens. Yes, America needs people who will do their living honestly and fairly, who will practice the Golden Rule in everything, and who will be informed on issues when they vote. Most of all, our land needs courageous people who are confident that goodness is right and that evil is wrong.

Once a little boy was watching as his father tried to put together a difficult jig-saw puzzle of a world map. The reverse side of it was an easier puzzle of a man. Finally, the little boy said, "Daddy, if you get the man together the world will be O.K." How true! The only healing for America and the world is for our people to give God a chance in our citizenship responsibilities.

Troop 621 Boy Scouts Get New Ranks

Seven members of Boy Scout Troop 621 were awarded advancement in rank at a court of honor Thursday.

Gary Camplin and Oscar Ortiz were both awarded the rank of Life Scout, the second highest rank in Scouting. Both of these boys have earned 10 merit badges and have taken an active part in the troop.

Jon Winchester was awarded the rank of Star Scout, which is the third highest rank and has earned five merit badges and has served as Patrol Leader as over a year.

Another high point of the evening, Lee Cranford, Scoutmaster, reported, was the recognition of Richard McMillan, who passed the requirements for Scout Life guard while at Summer Camp. This required quite a lot of work on Richard's part this summer, Cranford said, and he was one of only two boys who accomplished this feat during the seven week camp. Richard also received a pin for having four years of perfect attendance at Troop meetings.

Awards were given by Paul Goldman, Belle Glade Neighborhood Commissioner, and members of the troop committee.

The boys had a grand time at summer camp, Cranford reported, besides showing up very well in the various competition events. The troop was Honor Troop three of the five morning for receiving the highest score at camp inspections. They placed second in the field events, which included water activities, compass and map reading, physical accomplishments and soccer activities.

The boys were accompanied at summer camp by Scoutmaster Lee Cranford and Assistant Scoutmaster Marilyn Felsing.

One product does a consistently better job in both crops. It's Diazinon® 14G, a granular insecticide that stays active in the soil long enough to give truly effective wireworm control.

Diazinon controls both major wireworm species, and assures you of uniform stands for a better quality crop at harvest.

And with Diazinon there's no need for special protective clothing or safety devices. As with all pesticides, read and follow label directions.

S. B. Police Purchase Dogs

The South Bay Police Department, from left to right, Dave Hoskins, Chief Barry J. Banks and Gene Broadway, has purchased doberman pinschers, now about four months old, to be trained for police work. Obedience training for the dogs will begin in a couple of months with police training following. Each patrolman purchased his own dog from the Ralph Shoptire, West Palm Beach. The three-foot-long Pinschers for the dogs hang on the back wall.

Pfc. Williams In Hospital

Pfc. Glen Patrick Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, entered Coral Gables Veterans' Hospital last Tuesday for surgery that will be performed to restore use of his left arm.

Private Williams received his injury while serving in Vietnam, and to restore complete use of the arm two additional operations will have to be performed.

He is now in room 634.
